MORE TEARS AND MORE KISSING

At the Union Depot Than Any Place Else In Akron.—And This Not All.

Affectionate, indignant, sad, exasperating, pitiable, are the words which describe some of the scenes that are enacted almost daily at the Union depot. An observing railroad man remarked the other day that there were more kisses exchanged and more tears shed at the Union depot than at any other place in the city. And most true were his observations. Scarcely a passenger train arrives that does not produce the material for a kissing scene and the kissing is not all confined to the women, either, although they do by far the greater share. Tears of regret often precede the departure of some friend on a long journey. Nor is flirtation unknown at this busy place, although this form of human amusement is generally confined to the younger and gayer generations.

It may not be generally known but it is a fact nevertheless that "American Beer" is sold at the depot lunch counter. Last Saturday evening a delegation of thirty German citizens, who were passing through Akron, entered the lunch room. One of the party said to the clerk:

"Gib mir ein beer?"

"Beer, did you say?"

"Yah."

The lunch counter man filled a glass and the rest of the party made a rush for the counter. Corks popped, glasses clinked, and in full view of everybody, the party numbering 20, lined up around the counter, emptied their glasses, which had been filled with Akron beer.

The sight of a woman rushing down the street in the middle of the day, waving her handkerchief with one hand and a parasol or a package with the other hand, only to find when she reaches the foot of the hill that her train will not depart for five minutes, is sufficient to make an Egyptian mummy roar with laughter. Yet this scene is an almost daily occurrence.

The men in the ticket office are not supposed to be confidants yet hundreds of tales are poured into their ears by people. Restless from waiting, they appear before the ticket window, ask some trivial questions about the trains and before they leave unfold their stories to the minutest detail. Pretty maidens tell of their love affairs, stal-

BIG CONTRACT.

Wabash to Build a Giant Bridge at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 17.—The American Bridge Co. has been awarded the contract for the structural steel work of all the viaducts that are to go in between the Monongahela and Ohio rivers for the extension of the Wabash railroad into this city. About 15,000 tons of steel will be used, costing the railroad company $1,500,000. All the materials for this work will be made in Pittsburg district mills.

Work on this contract as well as the $1,700,000 bridge contracts already given the bridge company must be completed within a year.

BIG CONCERN.

Mr. R. S. Thomas' Lumber Company.

Kentucky Hustler Praises Men of the North.

Regarding a visit Mr. R. S. Thomas, formerly of Akron, recently made to the lumber country in which he is interested in Kentucky. The Jackson, Kentucky, Hustler says:

Mr. R. S. Thomas, secretary and treasurer of the Kentucky Lumber and Veneer Co., and Mr. W. Pennock, one of the directors, have been going over the line of railroad the company is now constructing from Jackson to Camp Christy, during the past week, on a tour of inspection of the road, its camps and the mills on the line. Both gentlemen are from Cleveland, O., where the company was organized. As stated in those columns some weeks since this company purchased a large body of timber land in this county and the line of railroad being built to it is for the transportation of its products to the L. & E. at Jackson. The road is being rapidly pushed forward to completion, as well as the system of saw mills on the line. Something like $250,000 are behind the giant enterprise, and when its completion is reached it means the steady employment, directly and indirectly, of 1,000 people. Camp Christy, at the terminus, is already a village of several hundred people, and there are scattering settlements along the line. Several hundred people are now employed on the road. At a glance it is readily seen what great benefits even now and will in the future accrue to Jackson and Breathitt county by the Kentucky Lumber and Veneer Co. and its vast operations and holdings in the county. This being true such enterprises should receive a hearty welcome and all possible encouragement, for they augur the development of the mountains. We had the pleasure of meeting Messrs. Thomas and Pennock, who are fair types of the men usually found at the head of great affairs. They are very affable and pleasant gentlemen, and the Hustler is exceedingly pleased that such men find it profitable to come among us and invest their capital.
